

National Safeguarding Week

9th – 13th November 2026

PROGRAMME OF EVENTS

LIVED EXPERIENCE

Lived Experience is the overarching theme for National Safeguarding Week 2026 across Mid and West Wales.

The theme recognises the importance of listening to and learning from people's experiences, and of ensuring that their voices help to shape how we understand risk, respond to harm and improve safeguarding practice.

Throughout the week, our programme will explore lived experience from a range of perspectives, bringing together the voices of children and young people, adults, survivors, practitioners and partners. Events will consider how experience can deepen professional understanding, challenge assumptions and help services respond more effectively to the people and communities they support.

The programme includes learning on transitional safeguarding, understanding lived experience drawing on practice reviews, positive masculinity and misogyny, financial abuse, domestic abuse and safeguarding responsibilities, alongside extensive local partner activity and dedicated opportunities for children and young people to share their experiences. The week will also include our Regional Safeguarding Conference, with a particular focus on sexual abuse and sexual harm through a lived-experience lens.

Across the week, we invite practitioners to listen, reflect and consider one important question:

What can lived experience teach us about how we safeguard people better?

Transitional Safeguarding

Facilitators:

Professor Michael Preston-Shoot | Dr Nathalie Hueglar | Sarah Atkinson
| Emma Taylor – Hill | Wes Cunliffe

About this session

This interactive session will explore the concept of Transitional Safeguarding and will include an overview of the key principles and will draw on learning from safeguarding reviews through a Transition lens. It will also explore some key themes that have emerged from workshops held across Welsh Regional Safeguarding Boards in 2026 and include direct input from someone with Lived Experience.

Participants will be encouraged to reflect on what enables effective multi-agency practice, where barriers remain, and how learning from safeguarding reviews can help strengthen approaches to transition across services.

Who should attend?

Relevant Social Work Practitioners and Managers (Children and Adult Services), Transition Teams, Leaving Care Services, Police Officers, Relevant Health Professionals, Probation Officers, Relevant Education Professionals, IRO's, Youth Justice Practitioners and Youth Services, Third Sector and Relevant Community Based Organisations.

Understanding Lived Experience, Drawing on Practice Reviews and Research to Strengthen Safeguarding Practice

Facilitator:

Paula McCreary

Session Aims:

Learn from practice reviews — explore key themes from Child and Adult Practice Reviews and consider what they highlight for safeguarding practice.

Understand lived experience — consider how a person's experiences may be expressed through words, behaviour, presentation, silence, relationships and environment.

See the whole person — use research and practice evidence to look beyond diagnosis, disability or presenting issues, and understand identity, history, strengths, wishes and context.

Work alongside people and families — consider how research and practice evidence can support conversations, relationships and shared understanding with individuals, children, families, carers and professionals.

Develop a shared picture — explore how information, analysis and reflective supervision can help identify patterns, escalation and cumulative risk.

Use research to strengthen practice — consider how research can support direct work, recording, decision-making and multi-agency planning, turning learning into more informed safeguarding practice.

Practical focus: Understanding the person's world • Meaningful lived experience • Embedding Professional Curiosity and reflective practice.

Who should attend?

Pembrokeshire Local Authority

Pembrokeshire will be hosting dedicated events for both adults and children, centred on recognising and celebrating the value of lived experience. Taking place within community venues, these events will provide opportunities for local practitioners to come together, reflect on learning, and strengthen understanding of safeguarding through the voices and experiences of those they support.

By highlighting personal experiences and promoting shared learning, the events aim to inspire positive practice and reinforce a community-wide commitment to safeguarding.

10.11.2026 Theme - Celebration of the good practice taking place across Children's Services in Pembrokeshire

The last year has involved a great deal of hard work across the service. This event is an opportunity to pause, recognise that work, share learning and celebrate the difference our collective efforts make for children, young people and families in Pembrokeshire. It is a chance to step back from the day-to-day pressures, hear about good practice, recognise the contribution of colleagues and reflect together on our progress as a service.

They are also pleased to confirm that Pene Turnell will be joining us in person from Australia, providing a valuable opportunity to reflect on our practice reset journey and the practice developing across our service. Andy Bilson, our research lead, will also be joining us to share the outcomes of his work in Pembrokeshire. His research has helped inform and shape our direction of travel over the last 12 months, and this will be an important opportunity to hear about that work and reflect on what it means for our continued development.

10.11.2026 Theme - Celebration of collaborative communication and strengths-based practice in Adult safeguarding

Content - to include a mix of facilitated table discussions of case study discussion, presentations and positive examples of where this approach has been used and how it has supported better outcomes for individuals. Open to Pembrokeshire County Council Adult Services staff only.

Children's Events Day

Carmarthenshire:

Through the Doors Exhibition

Discover Through the Doors, a powerful exhibition showcasing the voices and experiences of young people in Carmarthenshire. Developed from participation work exploring barriers to school attendance, the exhibition provides a unique insight into the challenges faced by children and young people. Through creative expression, including artwork, poetry and music, young people share their stories, perspectives and ideas for change, helping to raise awareness and promote understanding across our communities.

Ceredigion:

Care-Experienced Children: Sharing Experiences Through Creativity (Saturday 14th November)

In Ceredigion, care-experienced children will take part in engaging activity sessions designed to help them share their thoughts, feelings and experiences in a safe and supportive environment. Using play-based and creative approaches, children and young people will have the opportunity to express their views and shape understanding of their experiences. The insights gathered will be shared with the Corporate Parenting Group to help inform future support and services for care-experienced children and young people.

Pembrokeshire:

Young Voices, Lived Experience, Listening and Taking Action: Safeguarding and White Ribbon Event

In Pembrokeshire, young people from schools and youth settings will come together for a joint Safeguarding and White Ribbon event focused on promoting positive masculinity, healthy relationships and safeguarding. Taking a leading role throughout the event, young people will present resources, share key messages and explore how learning can be embedded within their school communities. This empowering event will support meaningful discussions, encourage positive change and amplify young people's voices in creating safer, more respectful environments.

Powys:

Powys will host a diverse programme of activities during Safeguarding Week, designed to engage children and young people in creative and meaningful ways. Events will include safeguarding-themed escape rooms for schools, consultation activities with care-experienced children and young people, dedicated activity days, and a podcast featuring foster carers and young people currently in care. Through these innovative approaches, participants will have opportunities to share their experiences, build awareness of safeguarding issues, and contribute to shaping services and support. The programme reflects a strong commitment to participation and engagement across the county, despite the challenges of delivering activities within such a large geographical area.
